SEC. 9. HUNT HIGHWAY.

Nothing in this Act shall establish, terminate, or otherwise impact any right-of-way or easement associated with Hunt Highway in Pinal County, Arizona, including the portion of Hunt Highway that traverses the Reservation.

PURPOSE OF THE BILL

The purpose of H.R. 4032 is to confirm undocumented federal rights-of-way or easements on the Gila River Indian Reservation, clarify the northern boundary of the Gila River Indian Community's Reservation, and to take certain land located in Maricopa County and Pinal County, Arizona, into trust for the benefit of the Gila River Indian Community.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

The Gila River Indian reservation was established on February 28, 1859, for the Pima and Maricopa Tribes which confederated into what is known today as the Gila River Indian Community.¹ The reservation was later expanded by several executive orders between 1876 and 1915 in Maricopa and Pinal counties, Arizona. President Rutherford B. Hayes signed one of these Executive Orders on June 14, 1879, which established the northwesterly corner and expanded the northern boundary of the Tribe's reservation to the middle of the Salt River.²

According to the Tribe, the new northwestern boundary was not immediately surveyed after President Hayes's Executive Order was issued. In 1895, the northern boundary of the reservation was surveyed, but it was rejected because the northern boundary of the reservation had been marked at the left bank of the Salt River, rather than the "middle of the . . . Salt River" as called for in the Executive Order.³

Between 1910 and 1920 there were attempts to properly survey the boundary but these efforts were complicated by the disposal of land immediately adjacent to the reservation. In its 1919 letter, the General Land Office explained that the encroachment upon the Tribe's land resulted from the failure to timely survey the reservation's boundaries in the wake of the Executive Order.⁴

Due to the delayed survey and surveying errors, the final survey inaccurately established the mid-point of the Salt River and failed to consider the northerly accretion of the River. Thus, the Tribe believed that because of surveying errors and the further northward movement of the Salt River since that time, the Tribe lost land on the northern portion of its reservation due to accretion. As a result, an inaccurate northern boundary of the reservation was relied upon.

In 2006, the Tribe brought a complaint against the United States seeking an accounting and reconciliation of its trust fund accounts and non-monetary trust assets or resources. Furthermore, the Tribe asserted claims for monetary damages relating to the United States' mismanagement of the Tribe's trust funds and non-monetary trust assets or resources. The claims included breach of trust claims against the United States for failing to document rights-of-way across the reservation, collect rent, and account for the Tribe's and allottees' trust assets. Additionally, the claims included a breach of the United States' fiduciary duty for its failure to accurately survey the reservation's northwesterly boundary, resulting in illegal patenting of lands to non-Indians (commonly referred to as the "Tres Rios boundary dispute").

The Obama Administration chose to enter into a settlement with the Tribe.⁵ As part of the settlement negotiations the Tribe agreed to waive its claims related to the Tres Rios boundary dispute in exchange for the Obama Administration agreeing to have the United States pay $12.5 million to the Tribe and transferring approximately 3,400 acres of Bureau of Land Management land (Lower Sonoran Lands) to the Tribe.⁶ The Tribe and the United States filed the fully executed Joint Stipulation of Settlement with the D.C. District Court on June 22, 2016. On March 20, 2017, the Tribe and the United States filed a joint stipulation to dismiss the Gila River trust case with prejudice.

Legislation is needed by the Tribe to obtain the full benefits under the Joint Stipulation of Settlement, including: establishment of a map of the rights-of-ways on the reservation; establishment of the northwest boundary of the reservation to settle the Tres Rios boundary dispute by the Tribe relinquishing land that is currently part of the reservation to avoid a title dispute with the City of Phoenix and private land owners; a mandatory trust acquisition, which waives application of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969,⁷ of 3,400 acres of federal land for the Tribe as part of the Tres Rios boundary dispute settlement; and surveys for the federal rights-of-ways on the reservation included on a map that will accompany the Act.

COMMITTEE OVERSIGHT FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Regarding clause 2(b)(1) of rule X and clause 3(c)(1) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee on Natural Resources' oversight findings and recommendations are reflected in the body of this report.

COMPLIANCE WITH HOUSE RULE XIII AND CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET ACT

1. Cost of Legislation and the Congressional Budget Act. With respect to the requirements of clause 3(c)(2) and (3) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives and sections 308(a) and 402 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, the Committee has received the following estimate for the bill from the Director of the Congressional Budget Office:

U.S. CONGRESS,
CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE,
Washington, DC, June 22, 2018.

Hon. ROB BISHOP,
Chairman, Committee on Natural Resources,
House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The Congressional Budget Office has prepared the enclosed revised cost estimate for H.R. 4032, the Gila River Indian Community Federal Rights-of-Way, Easements and Boundary Clarification Act.

If you wish further details on this estimate, we will be pleased to provide them. The CBO staff contact is Robert Reese.

Sincerely,

KEITH HALL,
Director.

Enclosure.

H.R. 4032—Gila River Indian Community Federal Rights-of-Way, Easements and Boundary Clarification Act

H.R. 4032 would direct the Department of the Interior (DOI) to take about 3,400 acres of land into trust for the benefit of the Gila River Indian Community. The bill also would establish a permanent northern boundary for the tribe's reservation and would establish and ratify three rights-of-way and one grazing permit on that land. DOI would be required to survey the new tribal boundary and the rights-of-way and publish those surveys. Using information from DOI, CBO estimates that the administrative expenses associated with those activities would not be significant.

The land that could be taken into trust under the bill is currently managed by DOI and yields no financial benefits to the federal government. DOI is in the process of transferring that land to the Gila River Indian Community through a noncompetitive, direct land sale. H.R. 4032 specifies that once the sale of the land is finalized DOI shall, at the request of the tribe, take the land into trust for the benefit of the tribe.

Enacting H.R. 4032 would not affect direct spending or revenues; therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures do not apply.

CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 4032 would not increase net direct spending or on-budget deficits in any of the four consecutive 10-year periods beginning in 2029.

H.R. 4032 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act.

This cost estimate for the Gila River Indian Community Federal Rights-of-Way, Easements and Boundary Clarification Act supersedes the estimate transmitted on June 12, 2018, for the same bill. CBO's earlier estimate was based incorrect information indicating that the sale would not proceed under the bill and title to the land would be transferred to the tribe for no consideration. This revised cost estimate corrects that error.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is Robert Reese. The estimate was reviewed by H. Samuel Papenfuss, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

2. General Performance Goals and Objectives. As required by clause 3(c)(4) of rule XIII, the general performance goal or objective of this bill is to confirm undocumented federal rights-of-way or easements on the Gila River Indian Reservation, clarify the northern boundary of the Gila River Indian Community's Reservation, and to take certain land located in Maricopa County and Pinal County, Arizona, into trust for the benefit of the Gila River Indian Community.

EARMARK STATEMENT

This bill does not contain any Congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits as defined under clause 9(e), 9(f), and 9(g) of rule XXI of the Rules of the House of Representatives.

COMPLIANCE WITH PUBLIC LAW 104–4

This bill contains no unfunded mandates.

COMPLIANCE WITH H. RES. 5

Directed Rule Making. This bill does not contain any directed rule makings.
